All-Time Paradigm Shift of Anesthesia Management and Pain Medicine

Message from the Guest Editor

The aim of this Special Issue is to provide an updated panorama of current anesthesia management, focusing on new and emerging topics, and on new ideas and concepts to be developed and implemented to promote the safety and health of both patients and anesthesia workers. This Special Issue of Healthcare seeks commentaries, original research articles, short reports, and reviews, including randomized-controlled trials, technical reports, laboratory investigations, concept papers, as well as focused reviews (with or without meta-analyses) that will stimulate continuing efforts to develop better choices for optimal anesthesia care.
