Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue of IJERPH aims to promote new insights into evidence-based behaviour change interventions, thereby helping to define and prioritize high-quality educational research. We invite you to submit papers addressing this theme. There are no limitations regarding manuscript types. Some examples of manuscripts that we will accept are:

1. Reviews of evidence-based behaviour change or educational interventions.
2. New research on the implementation of one or more evidence-based behaviour change or educational interventions in healthcare.
3. Series of Case Reports describing outcomes of a behaviour change intervention.
4. Conference Papers focusing on proceedings relevant to the theme.
5. Commentaries and Letters to the Editor will be considered too.
6. Other manuscript types that have not been mentioned may be considered, as long as they are relevant to the topic.

We look forward to receiving your submissions and furthering scientific research pertaining to evidence-based behaviour change.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Discovery and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a scientific basis for decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards. IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality, peer-reviewed, open access journal.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Embase, GEOBASE, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: CiteScore - Q1 (Public Health, Environmental and Occupational Health)
