Message from the Guest Editor

We attempt to compile evidence on the role of the physical therapist in the prevention of and recovery from injury in sports, through epidemiological evidence on injuries, or clinical trials that show the role of the physical therapist in the prevention and rehabilitation of musculoskeletal injuries, triggered by sports practice and/or excessive sports gesture “overuse”, especially in athletes/para-athletes. In addition, we recommend the submission of review articles, especially systematic reviews and meta-analyses that demonstrate the role of the physical therapist in rehabilitation and also in the prevention of injuries in athletes/para-athletes.
