Message from the Guest Editors

A Special Issue of the journal is being developed to focus on emerging trends and advances in child, adolescent, and emerging adult mental health. Areas of interest include but are not limited to:

- Advances in the use of technology to reach, support, and treat mental health in children and youth;
- Lessons learned from COVID-19 that can be carried forward for more effective interventions;
- Understanding the post COVID-19 legacies;
- Cross-cultural approaches to mental health;
- Neurobiological perspectives on social, moral, and brain development into early adulthood;
- Youth, pregnancy, and risks arising from alcohol, cannabis, and the opioid epidemic;
- The impact of social media on image, the portrayal of violence and sexual expectations;
- The exploitation of children and youth via social media;
- Social media exposure to complex topics such as race, violence, and social movements;
- The agency of parents to lead when children are engaged in communities that parents are unaware of such as through social media;
- .....

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Discovery and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a scientific basis for decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards. IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality, peer-reviewed, open access journal.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Embase, GEOBASE, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.
