Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue invites the submission of:

- systematic reviews of sociobiological predictors of various PMADs;
- studies examining the impact of biological sensitivity on the onset of PMADs;
- studies examining the impact of biological sensitivity on the degree of negative impact of PMADs on children;
- systematic reviews of intervention effectiveness for various PMADs;
- studies evaluating interventions for PMADs on maternal, paternal, and child outcomes;
- studies evaluating interventions for various PMADs using novel clinical interventions (e.g., virtual/online);
- subgroup analyses of clinical interventions, identifying what works for whom, and under what circumstances; and
- studies evaluating interventions for PMADs considering differential impacts of sociobiological covariates (e.g., various ACEs, genetic susceptibility).

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Discovery and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a scientific basis for decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards. IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality, peer-reviewed, open access journal.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Embase, GEOBASE, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: CiteScore - Q1 (Public Health, Environmental and Occupational Health)
