This Special Issue aims to highlight the latest research exploring how metabolic crosstalk in the broad sense, including the different organs and cell types, the microbiome, and the ingested nutrients, can be disturbed in pathological conditions such as obesity, liver cirrhosis, or cancer, but also with physiological challenges, including exercise or intermittent fasting. The topics that we intend to cover include but are not limited to the following:

- Regulation of metabolic crosstalk by diet and exercise
- Extracellular vesicles and their cargo in the regulation of metabolism
- Crosstalk between the gut microbiome and the host
- Tissue crosstalk in metabolic diseases and cancer.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
