Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

In light of the high prevalence of gynecological cancers and, consequently, the increasing disease burden experienced by women all over the world, there remains a pressing need for further research on novel therapies.

This Special Issue of the International Journal of Molecular Sciences on “Molecular Biology of Gynecological Cancers: From Bench to Bedside”, supervised by Dr. Bastian Czogalla (LMU Munich, Germany) and assisted by Dr. Anca Chelariu-Raicu (LMU Munich, Germany), aims at investigating all the molecular aspects of gynecological cancers. We welcome state-of-the-art original research articles, reviews, methods, hypotheses/theories, perspectives, opinions, and commentaries on this important topic. Data on the molecular mechanisms or pathophysiology of the disease are an essential requirement, and papers that contain only clinical trial reports/data will not be considered.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
