Dear Colleagues,

Several neurodegenerative pathologies of the nervous system, such as Alzheimer's disease (AD), Parkinson's disease (PD), multiple sclerosis (MS) and amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS), share a common state of chronic neuroinflammation. This Special Issue presents a collection of research articles and reviews investigating the molecular and cellular mechanisms underlying neurodegeneration. The focus is on studying the diagnostic performance of inflammation biomarkers and pathologyspecific biological indicators (both classic and newgeneration biomarkers) to identify reliable biomarkers that can guide future research and emphasize their utility in clinical practice.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
