Message from the Guest Editor

Antibodies are central mediators of immunological defense mechanisms, are used as therapeutic agents in the clinics, but are also functionally involved in various disorders immune-mediated Whereas antihodies accomplish some of their biological functions autonomously, many effector functions strictly depend on the interaction with distinct receptors (FcR) that bind antibody Fc domains. The purpose of this Special Issue on "Fc Receptors" is to report the recent progress achieved in the exceedingly complex topic of the interaction between these receptors and their antibody ligands.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
