Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Global efforts have been undertaken to investigate in detail the genomic and epigenomic heterogeneity of gastrointestinal cancers, resulting in the identification of new specific and sensitive predictive and prognostic biomarkers and in innovative molecular classifications based on gene expression profiling. Concurrently, the development of targeted therapies and the optimization of already available chemotherapeutic drugs has expanded the available treatment options for advanced tumors. This Special Issue will focus on both the molecular characterization and innovative molecularly-based targeted therapies in metastatic gastrointestinal tumors.
