Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

The evolving landscape of cancer research continuously unveils new mechanisms and pathways that contribute to tumor development and progression. This Special Issue, 'Hallmarks of Cancer: Emerging Insights and Innovations', aims to capture the forefront of cancer research by highlighting novel molecular insights and innovative therapeutic strategies. It seeks to gather contributions that explore the emerging molecular hallmarks of cancer, advancements in genetic and epigenetic studies, breakthroughs in targeted therapy, and innovative diagnostic techniques. Our goal is to provide a comprehensive update that can serve as a resource for researchers and clinicians alike, fostering developments that could lead to improved patient outcomes.]

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
