Message from the Guest Editor

Dear colleague,

The objective of this special issue will be to provide to an overview of the latest developments in the field of immunotherapy for 1) hematological malignancies and 2) various form of solid cancers. This will encompass the field of drug-based immunotherapy (i.e., checkpoint inhibitors) and immune cell-based therapy with a focus on Chimeric Antigen Receptor therapy (i.e., CAR T, CAR NK), dendritic cell therapy, as well as Tumor infiltrated lymphocytes (TiLs).

The special issue will explore the latest innovation in CAR molecular design performed to improve the specific targeting of cancer cells and the effort done to address the major weakness of the technology (i.e., T-cell exhaustion, tumor accessibility).
