Message from the Guest Editors

It is our pleasure to announce the launch of a new Special Issue in the IJMS journal focusing on “Lipid and Cardiovascular Disease”. Despite advancements in the diagnosis and treatment of various stages of disease conditions, cardiovascular disease remains one of the most common leading causes of morbidity and mortality worldwide. Imbalance of the lipid microenvironment crucially contributes to atherosclerosis and is the major risk factor of the underlying cardiovascular disease. Dyslipidemia can lead to the deposition of lipid in the arterial intima, leading to inflammation and vascular remodeling, resulting in atherosclerotic plaque formation. Myocardial infarction and stroke are the lethal consequences of plaque rupture or erosion. Research and review articles on this broad important topic are highly encouraged.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
