Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

In the past few years, metal–organic frameworks (MOFs) have received extensive interest as an emerging class of very promising crystalline microporous materials promoted by the use of a set of well-established principles of coordination chemistry. This Special Issue on “Current Trends in MOF (Metal–Organic Framework) and Metal X-ide Development” welcomes original scientific research articles, comprehensive reviews, and communications in this field, with a focus on all aspects of the design, characterization, evaluation, and development of MOFs and metal X-ides.

- MOF
- metal carbide
- metal sulfide
- metal phosphide
- catalysis
- biomedicine
- electromagnetic absorption
- energy conversion and storage

Please feel free to contact us if you have interest in contributing papers to our special issue.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, and molecular biophysics. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Organic Chemistry)
