Message from the Guest Editor

In this call for research and review papers 2022, the specific topic will focus on the genetic alterations in proteins that contribute to the pathogenesis of AD and other neurodegeneration. We welcome articles related, but not limited, to 1) gene-based molecular pathways in neurodegeneration, 2) gene-based therapy for neurodegeneration; 3) promising therapeutic strategies for neurodegeneration, 4) innate immunity in neurodegeneration, 5) proteins in chronic inflammation causing neurodegeneration in the brain, and 6) altered protein/protein interaction and signaling during signaling for inducing neurodegeneration.

Keywords: Neurodegeneration, Alzheimer's disease, Parkinson disease, gene, protein, therapeutic molecules, gene mutation, conformational alteration, innate immunity.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
