Message from the Guest Editors

We invite you to contribute a full research paper or review article for peer-review and possible publication in our Special Issue “Self-Assembly and Design of Polyfunctional Nanosystems”. This Special Issue will be devoted to (i) fundamental aspects of self-assembly of amphiphilic compounds including surfactants, polymers, macrocycles, and mixed systems on their basis; (ii) potential application of these systems in practice, with special emphasis on drug delivery and other aspects of biomedicine; (iii) combination of aforementioned amphiphilic compounds with other nanomaterials resulting in new hybrid composite materials with diverse potential applications.
