Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

In this Special Issue, we will focus on direct cell–cell communications, involving membrane-based interactions between cells, whether via various types of junctions (gap, tight, adherens, etc.), exosomes and other vesicular structures, tunneling nanotubes, or proteins such as Ephrins, Semaphorins, etc. which function principally through membrane-to-membrane contacts.

With this general description in mind, I am pleased to invite manuscripts related to intercellular communication in either normal processes and functions or pathological conditions. Therapeutic approaches targeting these mechanisms are also within the scope of this issue.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
