Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Digital ecosystems (DEs) are a distributed and heterogeneous network of different types of actors, such as individuals and organizations, that require seamless, effective, and efficient architecture for digital information handling and sharing. Traditional point-to-point and ad-hoc integrations and traditional information infrastructure hinder the ability of DE actors to do so. The overarching challenge is: how do we handle information in complex DEs? This Special Issue aims to investigate what the contemporary information architecture challenges, theories, practices, technologies, and applications are in various domains of digital ecosystems. such as agriculture, business, government, health, retail, and financial and manufacturing ecosystems

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The concept of Information is to disseminate scientific results achieved via experiments and theoretical results in depth. It is very important to enable researchers and practitioners to learn new technology and findings that enable development in the applied field.

Information is an online open access journal of information science and technology, data, knowledge and communication. It publishes reviews, regular research papers and short communications. We invite high quality work, and our review and publication processing is very efficient.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, ESCI \(Web of Science\), Ei Compendex, dblp, and other databases.

Journal Rank: CiteScore - Q2 (Information Systems)
