Message from the Guest Editors

With this Special Issue dedicated to particle accelerators, we would like to invite experts in the field of accelerators to submit contributions in the form of expert comprehensive reviews or research articles addressing particle accelerators. The scope of this Special Issue includes, but is not limited to, the following topics:

- High-Luminosity LHC and future LHC upgrades;
- Future Circular Colliders (FCC, CEPC, etc.);
- Future Liner Colliders (ILC, CLIC, etc.);
- Muon Colliders;
- Application of particle accelerators in medicine, biology, industry, etc.
- Particle accelerators for free-electron laser research.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The realization of dedicated instrumentation has always been a collateral aspect of experimental research. In addition, many groups dedicate efforts and resources solely to the development of new devices, sensors, equipment and large infrastructure, theoretical and numerical studies, and novel experimental methodologies. With Instruments we wish to address both established and emerging communities, also to favor the creation of innovative trans-disciplinary approaches. We see Instruments as an exciting high-impact journal that will soon hold a leading position in disseminating cutting edge scientific and technological research.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within

ESCI (Web of Science), Scopus, Inspec, CAPlus / SciFinder, INSPIRE, and other databases.

Rapid Publication: manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 21.1 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.8 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
