Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue will comprise selected papers that explore the role of hospitality in longevity and ageing, with the aim of closing the gap existing between these two worlds. The objective of this Special Issue is to examine and critically engage with hospitality theories and practices in order to explore how they can contribute to improving longevity and ageing, with the goal of promoting ageing in place and a better quality of life in senior facilities. This Special Issue welcomes papers both of a qualitative and quantitative nature that investigate innovative and creative ways to support ageing through hospitality-related opportunities.
