The aim of this special issue is to honor Professor Alessandro Menotti on the occasion of his 90th birthday in 2024. He was the youngest among the first generation of researchers involved in the Seven Countries Study (SCS) under the leadership of late Professor Ancel Keys. After 60 years of continued efforts worldwide he was the eldest of the third generation of SCS researchers and a supervisor of the study along a constant event coder for this reputed international investigation that set the foundation of cardiovascular epidemiology of heart diseases.
