Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue will cover a wide range of topics, such as new imaging modalities, minimally invasive surgical procedures, invasive physiotherapy, and the integration of artificial intelligence into diagnostic and therapeutic processes. By presenting a comprehensive overview of the latest advances, this Special Issue aims to highlight both the potential and limitations of these techniques. Key issues to be addressed include improving accuracy, ameliorating patient outcomes, and reducing procedural risks. The scope of this Special Issue encompasses studies ranging from basic research to clinical applications, with an emphasis on translational aspects that bridge the gap between laboratory findings and real-world practice. Through this mobilization of knowledge, this Special Issue aims to inspire future research and innovation, ultimately contributing to the advancement of medical and physiotherapeutic practices.

Keywords:
