Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

AI is now changing the world. In the field of medicine, new AI diagnostic systems are also changing the conventional wisdom of medical practice. In particular, considerable progress has been made in the field of diagnostic imaging. However, the system from electronic medical record (EMR) data to AI diagnosis is still in its infancy. In this Special Issue, we call for contributions presenting the latest research on AI diagnostics in fields other than imaging: how to clean up unstructured EMR data and incorporate them into AI models such as deep learning, the networking of EMRs, coupling EMRs with big data from insurance databases, and other related topics.

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.
High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.
Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Medicine, General and Internal) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Medicine)
