Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

We are preparing a new Special Issue entitled ‘Clinical and Interventional Therapeutic Advances of Acute Myocardial Infarction’, scheduled to be published in the Journal of Clinical Medicine, and we would like to invite you to submit your research papers. Acute myocardial infarction remains a major cause of death and morbidity, despite progress in pharmacological and interventional treatments. New and more potent antiplatelet agents, new stent platforms, intracoronary imaging, calcium modification devices, and PPCI via snuffbox are some of the therapeutic advances we are experiencing in daily practice. Therefore, researchers in the field of interventional cardiology and treatment of acute myocardial infarction are invited to submit their research work, original articles, and reviews to this Special Issue.
