Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

The surgical therapy of orthopaedic diseases and injuries is subject to permanent change. The development of new techniques and the establishment of patient-friendly, often minimally invasive procedures have changed many treatment algorithms. Great clinical success is being achieved in increasingly targeted, individualised therapy approaches. Moreover, post-operative treatment and rehabilitation are undergoing just as great a change. Due to the growing awareness of evidence-based post-operative treatments, long off-loading phases and functional impairments are increasingly giving way to early functional therapy, reducing treatment times and minimizing socio-economic costs. The aim of this Special Issue is to provide a comprehensive overview of the latest developments and improvements in surgical therapy for orthopaedic diseases and their rehabilitation. Therefore, researchers in the field of orthopaedic surgery and rehabilitation are encouraged to submit their findings as original articles, reviews or case reports to this Special Issue.
