Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Macromycetes constitute a critical part of most habitats in the Northern Hemisphere. Nevertheless, there are still many undescribed or little-known taxa in this region. This Special Issue aims to publish a series of papers focusing on the diversity, taxonomy and phylogeny of all groups of macromycetes, as well as their distribution, ecology and conservation in various parts of the Northern Hemisphere. Submitted papers should aim to improve our knowledge of fungi in ecosystems of this area.
