Message from the Guest Editors

The aim of this Special Issue is to highlight recent trends, updates, and progress in the use of cancer genomics to improve overall cancer care.

We invite the submission of original articles to this Special Issue of the Journal of Personalized Medicine that cover the continuum of healthcare related to cancer genetics and genomics. Articles focused on empirical studies, implementation of new care models, case studies, and reviews focusing on the barriers to expanding cancer genetics into healthcare will be welcome.
