Message from the Guest Editor

Stroke has become the leading cause of mortality and long-term impairment globally. New and continuously improving treatment options such as thrombolysis and thrombectomy have revolutionized acute stroke treatment in recent years. Without urgent implementation of effective primary prevention strategies, the stroke burden will probably continue to grow across the world, particularly in low-income countries.

In this Special Issue of the Journal of Personalized Medicine, we will highlight the current state of the art and showcase some of the latest findings in the field of personalized stroke medicine. This involves the evaluation of biomarkers, expanded advanced risk factor analysis, micronutrient testing, risk-scoring systems, genetics, gene expression testing, and non-invasive and invasive testing, etc. In this Special Issue, we welcome original research and review articles related to the role of precision medicine in stroke and cerebrovascular neurology, from underlying molecular and cellular mechanisms to clinical translational applications.

Journal of Personalized Medicine (JPM; ISSN 2075-4426) is an international, open access journal aimed at bringing all aspects of personalized medicine to one platform. JPM publishes cutting edge, innovative preclinical and translational scientific research and technologies related to personalized medicine (e.g., precision medicine, pharmacogenomics/proteomics, systems biology, 'omics association analysis). JPM is covered in Scopus, the Science Citation Index Expanded (SCIE), PubMed, PMC, Embase, and other databases.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Medicine, General and Internal) / CiteScore - Q2 (Medicine (miscellaneous))
