Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

In this Special Issue, we are interested in bringing together rigorous manuscripts that advance corporate governance research. We invite manuscripts featuring original research that complements our understanding of the impact of corporate governance mechanisms on accounting and financial reporting practices and corporate financing decisions.

We call for manuscripts that deal with all aspects related to the impact of corporate governance mechanisms and governance reforms on the compliance with accounting standards, the quality and quantity of corporate voluntary disclosure, profit warning, earnings management, and readability of the annual report. We also call for manuscripts that focus on the impact of corporate governance on the stock market, capital structure, dividend policy, cash holdings, and investment efficiency. We are interested in conceptual, theoretical, methodological, empirical, and systematic review studies.
