Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue welcomes high-quality studies focusing on monitoring LULC changes and analyzing the impacts of their changes on regional sustainable development. Relevant themes include, but are not limited to:

- Land cover and land use change monitoring;
- Spatio-temporal data mining, data fusion, modeling and analysis of land cover change;
- The relationship between land use/cover change and regional sustainable development;
- The driving forces and mechanisms of land use/cover change;
- Land cover changes and associated impacts on the environment.

We look forward to receiving your original research articles and reviews.
