Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

After our successful first two volumes of this Special Issue, “Structure and Mechanical Properties of Alloys”, we have decided to create a third volume to collect and publish state-of-the-art research on the structure–mechanical property relationship in metallic materials.

This third volume of this Special Issue, like the first two ones, will focus on the contemporary trends in material engineering related to metallic materials with a special emphasis on the effect of grain size, structure modifications using thermal, chemical, surface, and mechanical treatment, as well as on the decrease in the specific weight of the finished elements using light metal alloys such as those containing aluminum, magnesium, and titanium.
