Message from the Guest Editor

In recent years, with the rapid development of computer and network techniques, some traditional data analytics and mining technologies are facing unprecedented challenges. How to deal with large scale data is now a challenging task in the fields of information science and artificial intelligence. Many new data analytics and mining methods, including deep learning, granular computing, concept lattice and visualization method, are developed in order to solve the problem of big data analytics and mining. This Special Issue provides a platform for researchers to present their novel and unpublished works in the domain of data analytics and mining. We are pleased to invite you, along with the members of your research group, to contribute to the forthcoming Special Issue, entitled “New Advances in Data Analytics and Mining”.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The journal Mathematics publishes high-quality, refereed papers that treat both pure and applied mathematics. The journal highlights articles devoted to the mathematical treatment of questions arising in physics, chemistry, biology, statistics, finance, computer science, engineering and sociology, particularly those that stress analytical/algebraic aspects and novel problems and their solutions. One of the missions of the journal is to serve mathematicians and scientists through the prompt publication of significant advances in any branch of science and technology, and to provide a forum for the discussion of new scientific developments.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), RePEc, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Mathematics) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Mathematics)
