An enormous amount of healthcare data is currently being generated from a multitude of sources. These large-scale datasets are utilized by researchers to design artificial intelligence (AI) algorithms and develop tools to improve disease diagnosis, treatment, and patient care. These Alenabled tools not only assist doctors' to obtain early insights into diseases, but also accelerate the diagnosis process and provide support to clinics and hospitals.

This Special Issue focuses on novel methods and solutions for effective data analysis and information retrieval in healthcare. We invite researchers from academia and industry to present their recent and unpublished studies in this Special Issue. This will help to share knowledge and foster future research in the field.

The journal Mathematics publishes high-quality, refereed papers that treat both pure and applied mathematics. The iournal highlights articles devoted to the mathematical treatment of questions arising in physics, chemistry, biology, statistics, finance, computer science, engineering sociology. particularly those that and stress analytical/algebraic aspects and novel problems and their solutions. One of the missions of the journal is to serve mathematicians and scientists through the prompt publication of significant advances in any branch of science and technology, and to provide a forum for the discussion of new scientific developments.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), RePEc, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Mathematics) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Mathematics)
