Recent Studies in Number Theory and Algebraic Geometry

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue, titled “Recent Studies in Number Theory and Algebraic Geometry”, invites contributions that highlight significant recent advancements and emerging trends in these interconnected fields. We are particularly interested in research focusing on analytic number theory, arithmetic geometry, Diophantine approximations, interactions of number theory with other disciplines, and multifractal analysis related to number theory. This Special Issue will emphasize the diverse approaches and techniques that drive recent progress in number theory, fostering cross-disciplinary dialogue and innovation. Also, any kind of novel and interesting research within the fields of number theory and algebraic geometry are welcome.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The journal Mathematics publishes high-quality, refereed papers that treat both pure and applied mathematics. The journal highlights articles devoted to the mathematical treatment of questions arising in physics, chemistry, biology, statistics, finance, computer science, engineering and sociology, particularly those that stress analytical/algebraic aspects and novel problems and their solutions. One of the missions of the journal is to serve mathematicians and scientists through the prompt publication of significant advances in any branch of science and technology, and to provide a forum for the discussion of new scientific developments.
