Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

We now launch in Medicina a Special Issue entitled “Endocrinology in the Time of COVID-19”, with the aim of gathering together a scientific repository on the association between COVID-19 and endocrine dysfunction.

We are delighted to invite you to submit your original research articles and manuscripts covering basic and clinical research focusing on COVID-19, hormonal perturbations, glucometabolic health, and vaccination for those with endocrine and metabolic diseases. Concise and valuable review articles aimed at providing a comprehensive understanding of how the SARS CoV-2 virus has impacted the science of endocrinology are also welcome. We hope that you will also consider adding your experience to the therapeutic armamentarium that exists to combat this modern-day challenge to human health.
