New Developments in Plastic Surgery

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue, entitled "New Developments in Plastic Surgery", aims to highlight the latest advancements and innovations within the field of plastic surgery. We invite researchers and practitioners to contribute original research articles, comprehensive reviews, and insightful case reports that explore cutting-edge techniques, technologies, and methodologies in plastic surgery. The Special Issue seeks to provide a platform for discussing emerging trends, clinical practices, and the integration of artificial intelligence and other novel approaches into surgical procedures and patient care. By gathering contributions from experts worldwide, we aim to offer a comprehensive overview of the current state and future directions of plastic surgery, ultimately enhancing clinical outcomes and patient satisfaction. This Special Issue serves as an essential resource for professionals looking to stay abreast of the latest developments and enhance their practice with evidence-based insights.
