Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Many advances have been made in recent years in the fields of micromachines and microtechnology, and we believe that a state-of-the-art review of existing works will be a great reference for students, researchers and lecturers in both research and teaching related to micromachines. This Special Issue aims to collect high-quality review papers that include a brief retrospective overview and a broad state-of-the-art review of the topics within the scope of micromachines.

The reviews will be published as fully open access after peer review to benefit both authors and readers. You are welcome to send short proposals for reviews to our Editorial Office (micromachines@mdpi.com) for evaluation before submission.
