Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Zoonosis is increasingly being recognized as a public health implication of Mycobacterium avium ss. paratuberculosis (MAP). The aim of this Special Issue of Microorganisms is to provide MAP researchers with a platform for presenting information about MAP that relates to animal health, food safety, environmental exposure, and human health.

To that end, we cordially invite you to submit a research article, review article, or short communication related to one or more of the various aspects of MAP infection: host–MAP interactions, epidemiology, diagnostics, therapeutics, and prevention.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

"Microorganism" merges the idea of the very small with the idea of the evolving reproducing organism is a unifying principle for the discipline of microbiology. Our journal recognizes the broadly diverse yet connected nature of microorganisms and provides an advanced publishing forum for original articles from scientists involved in high-quality basic and applied research on any prokaryotic or eukaryotic microorganism, and for research on the ecology, genomics and evolution of microbial communities as well as that exploring cultured microorganisms in the laboratory.
