Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Catalysis continues to provide a versatile platform in developing facile methodologies for products on which our everyday lives depend. Professor Gerard van Koten is a pioneer in this field, and his research in organometallic chemistry has contributed significantly in advancing the scope of fine chemical synthesis. Molecules is honored to host a Special Issue entitled “Catalysis and Its Contributions to Society: Theme Issue Honoring Professor Gerard van Koten on His 80th Birthday” and congratulate Professor Gerard van Koten in celebrating another milestone in 2022, together with the outstanding contributions he has made to the growth of homogeneous catalysis.

Professor Ashok Kakkar and the Editors of Molecules invite scientists to join them in celebrating Professor Gerard van Koten and his contributions to science by submitting original research articles as well as reviews to this Special Issue.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the premier open access journal dedicated to experimental organic chemistry, and now in its 25th year of publication, the papers published in Molecules span from classical synthetic methodology to natural product isolation and characterization, as well as physicochemical studies and the applications of these molecules as pharmaceuticals, catalysts and novel materials. Pushing the boundaries of the discipline, we invite papers on multidisciplinary topics bridging biochemistry, biophysics and materials science, as well as timely reviews and topical issues on cutting edge fields in all these areas.
