Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue focuses on expanding knowledge on intestinal nutrient sensing and the impact of diet and obesity on the sensing, processing, and transmission of luminal nutrient status to the brain. Research encompassing but not limited to the effects of single and combination nutrients on gut health, the release of gut peptides, appetite and satiety behaviors, molecular and cellular mechanisms of taste, the transmission of vagal information, and uncovering novel sensors and receptors along the gut-brain axis. We welcome submissions of original hypothesis-driven research, systematic reviews, meta-analyses, and clinical trials. Pilot and feasibility studies are eligible for submission.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Embase, PubAg, AGRIS, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Nutrition and Dietetics) / CiteScore - Q1 (Food Science)

Message from the Editorial Board

Nutrients is an on-line open access journal that was first published in 2009. Nutrients adheres to rigorous peer-review and editorial processes and publishes only high quality manuscripts that address important issues related to the impacts of nutrients on human health. The Impact Factor of Nutrients has risen rapidly since its establishment and it is now ranked in the first quartile of journals publishing in the field of nutrition and dietetics research.
