Message from the Guest Editor

This special issue is dedicated to fortification of human milk in the NICU. In particular, we are interested in assessing the association between fortification of mother's own milk and/or donor human milk and in-patient clinical outcomes, discharge outcomes, and/or long-term growth and/or neurodevelopment outcomes. Studies of interest for this special issue should include exposures of standard fortification, adjusted fortification, targeted fortification, or a combination of fortification methods. Given that fortification protocols are specific to each institution, we appreciate detailed information on fortification processes and any measurements of human milk prior/post fortification.
