Pharmacotherapy of Gastric Cancer

Message from the Guest Editor

Gastric cancer is a public health problem. The number of gastric cancer patients has increased. But what is the cause? Why hasn't Helicobacter pylori been eradicated so far? Current protocols recommend chemotherapy before surgery. But if the disease progresses under chemotherapy and surgical resection cannot be carried out due to the risk of peritoneal carcinomatosis, what pharmaceutical solutions are available? These are the questions we want to discuss in this Special Issue.
