Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Age-related drug delivery is very important in drug development. Both drug delivery performance and various age-related physical, mental and physiological changes can affect drug effectiveness and safety in paediatric and geriatric patients. This Special Issue aims to introduce novel drug delivery strategies in paediatric and geriatric patients, such as novel transdermal, nasal, pulmonary and orally dosage forms that provide consistent, precise, timely and more targeted drug delivery. We invite original research articles and reviews on all aspects of age-related drug delivery highlighting the research currently undertaken in the field of paediatric and geriatric drugs for this Special Issue.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.
