In Silico Pharmacology for Evidence-Based and Precision Medicine

Message from the Guest Editor

Personalized/precision medicine (PM), initiating from clinical and molecular pharmacology, introduces a new era in healthcare that aims to identify and predict the optimum treatments for a patient or a cohort. Evidence-based medicine (EBM) integrates information from basic in vivo, observational studies and clinical trials up to meta-analysis data for clinical consideration. Hence, it can be stated that EBM often see the forest (population averages) but misses the trees (individual patients), whereas the utilization of PM may not see the forest for the trees. This Special Issue invites research and review articles on pharmacological approaches incorporating M&S to promote EBM and PM knowledge for potential clinical extrapolation.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Pharmaceutics (ISSN 1999-4923) is an online open access journal on the science and technology of pharmaceuticals and biopharmaceuticals. The scientific community, the wider community and the general public have unlimited and free access to the content as soon as a paper is published; this open access to your research ensures your findings are shared with the widest possible audience. Please consider publishing your impressive work in this high quality journal. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Pharmacology and Pharmacy) / CiteScore - Q1 (Pharmaceutical Science)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 15.5 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2024).
