Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

We invite contributions focused on the interface of philosophy and the cognitive sciences. Some examples of relevant topics are: Computation and representation, artificial intelligence, rationality, cognitive architecture, explanation in brain and cognitive science, concepts, perception, language, and consciousness, inter alia. Although we are open to contributions from any area of the philosophy of cognitive science, we look forward to receiving contributions addressing the following areas of inquiry:

- Philosophy of Psychology
- Philosophy of Psychiatry and Psychopathology
- Philosophy of Neuroscience
- Philosophy of Linguistics
- Philosophy of Perception
- Philosophy of Mind
- Philosophy of Computer Science
- Philosophy of Consciousness Studies
- Philosophy of Animal Cognition

This Special Issue will contain the expanded versions of selected papers presented at the WPCS 2017, organized by the CLP, Buenos Aires, Argentina, 22–24 November 2017.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Philosophies searches for the syntheses of philosophical and scientific inquiries. It promotes philosophical work that is derived from the experience of diverse scientific disciplines and cultures. Multiple philosophies already exist — those of logic, information, computation, natural and artificial life, natural or artificial intelligence, complexity, technology, etc. Our mission is not to abandon philosophical roots and traditions of inquiry, but to promote the development of philosophical foundations and effective methodologies derived from diverse scientific explorations, and intended to enhance these explorations as to generate deeper and more holistic knowledge. Innovation may also be achieved through the cultural dimension. Other cultures can offer from their heritage a diversity of resources for exploration; these resources can also contribute to the emergent synthesis of philosophical inquiry.
