Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Thermal and fluid sciences are a field of engineering that finds usage within the areas of both conventional and sustainable energy. This Special Issue on “Thermal and Fluid Flow Processes in Sustainable and Conventional Energy” seeks high-quality manuscripts focusing on novel and significant developments in the area of thermal and fluid science applications in relation to conventional and sustainable energy. Studies associated with computational fluid dynamics (CFD), heat transfer, experimental fluid dynamics, and theoretical research in these areas are highly encouraged. Topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Petroleum engineering;
- Fossil fuels;
- Wind energy;
- Solar energy;
- Carbon capture and sequestration;
- Stormwater management.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

You are invited to contribute either a research article or a comprehensive review for consideration and publication in Processes (ISSN 2227-9717). Processes is published in open access format – research articles, reviews, and other content are released on the internet immediately after acceptance. The scientific community and the general public have unlimited, free access to the content. As an open access journal, Processes is supported by the authors and their institutes through the payment of article processing charges (APCs) for accepted papers. We would be pleased to welcome you as one of our authors.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, Inspec, AGRIS, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Engineering, Chemical) / CiteScore - Q2 (Chemical Engineering (miscellaneous))
