Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Religions invites submissions for a special journal issue that will examine the contemporary function and presence of religion in the lives of African Americans. Given the wide-range of topics and time-periods that could be discussed under this heading, specific attention will be given to papers that examine:

- The sermon as social catalyst
- Religion as wellness
- Faith and the African American community
- Gender and sexuality and African American religion
- Religion as theme in African American literature
- Sacred and secular in African American music
- Political movements and African American religion
- Religion and African American Film

All submissions must contain original unpublished work not being considered for publication elsewhere. All essays are peer-reviewed.

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community - disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
