Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

The Reality, also thanks to the advancements of technology and regardless of the ever deeper knowledge we may have of it, always remains covered by a thin veil, and therefore always partially inaccessible. This offers a dynamism that indeed calls every Truth-seeker, who feels deeply challenged by the surface of a multilevel, mysterious but also understandable Reality.

We are pleased to invite you to submit papers from different fields addressing the trans-disciplinary dialogue between theology and empirical sciences, with specific reference to the dynamic correlation between the Mystery, which invites and gives confidence to knowledge and research, and the Humility of the researchers in a multilevel Reality. Key topics for the special issue are the following, and related, ones: Anthropological level, Physical Science, Cosmological level, Complexity level, Theological level.

I look forward to receive your contributions.
