An Enduring Legacy: The Theology of Thomas Aquinas in Dialogue with the Contemporary Age

Message from the Guest Editors

We invite you to contribute to our upcoming Special Issue of Religions, titled “An Enduring Legacy: The Theology of Thomas Aquinas in Dialogue with the Contemporary Age.”

Timed to coincide with this octocentennial celebration, this Special Issue will demonstrate the vitality of Aquinas’s theology by bringing it into a robust and constructive dialogue with the pressing issues of the contemporary age. We seek contributions that are not only historically informed and textually grounded but also speculative, creative, and constructive. Our goal is to demonstrate the living relevance of Aquinas’s comprehensive vision. We welcome studies that apply Thomistic principles to new domains, place Aquinas in conversation with modern and postmodern thinkers, and explore how his understanding of God, creation, and humanity can illuminate our current predicament. While rigorously academic, submissions should be written to engage a broad theological readership, consistent with the journal’s scope of fostering a scholarly understanding of religious thought and practice.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Fresh developments in the disciplines that consistently make significant contributions to our understanding of religious personality, authority, devotion, and community – disciplines ranging from psychology, sociology, and anthropology to history, art history, philosophy, literary criticism, and political science – fuel general, as well as scholarly, interest in the world's religions.

Religions is inviting innovative and comparative contributions. Please consider Religions as an exceptional, exciting enterprise ready to reward your trust, attention, and participation.
