

Special Issue

Aerial Remote Sensing System for Agriculture

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Edition is intended for a global research community involved in data analysis and processing and developing innovative aerial remote sensing system solutions for agriculture. Contributions may include, but are not limited to: UAS applied in the detection of pests and diseases, weeds, estimation of planted area and productivity, monitoring of plant health, detection of failures in irrigation, fertilization or soil preparation, analysis of coverage vegetation, topography, drainage and soil type, spectral data analysis, hyperspectral, multispectral and thermal image processing and UAV design for agricultural uses.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Remote Sensing is now a prominent international journal of repute in the world of remote sensing and spatial sciences, as a pioneer and pathfinder in open access format. It has highly accomplished global remote sensing scientists on the editorial board and a dedicated team of associate editors. The journal emphasizes quality and novelty and has a rigorous peer-review process. It is now one of the top remote sensing journals with a significant Impact Factor, and a goal to become the best journal in remote sensing in the coming years. I strongly recommend Remote Sensing for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.
